The Cornerstone Gallery proudly presents the first dot-art group show. The exhibition showcases a selection of work by artists represented by dot-art, and demonstrates their range, diversity and talent.

The artists on show range from the well established and respected such as Peter Corbett, who was the subject of a retrospective exhibition at last years Liverpool Biennial and Alex Corina, who was responsible for the “Mona Lennon”; to those who graduated from art school less than a month ago, including Katy Rees and Rachel Woods. The wide variety of age, experience and expertise of these artists can be seen in the exciting and stimulating contrasts of both media and subject found in the exhibition.
